CP 3402 – Content Management System

Practical 4
Local Development and Deployment

Following is the screen recording of localhost website.

These are the screenshots of xampp server and database of the local website.

After the xampp server is running and the database is created then the tables are imported, the website can be opened in a localhost.